

An abstract graphic featuring large, overlapping, rounded shapes in shades of green, blue, and yellow. The shapes are layered, with a yellow shape at the bottom left, a green shape in the middle, and a blue shape on the right. A dark grey horizontal bar is overlaid on the top portion of the image, containing white text.

Recognition assembly – Years 4, 5 & 6
10th June 2026

Year 4

Year 4

Are you bored of glassy paper straws dissolving in your drink?
Or breaking within 5 minutes? Our professional anti-mush technology means no more mush in your drink. Strawless last just over an hour meaning you can sit back back and enjoy your refreshing drink without the straws melting. Our ~~perfect~~ perfect pasta ~~allows~~ <sup>allows</sup> allows you to relax without the hassle of soggy straws. Don't worry, the straws are made of 2 simple natural ingredients, wheat + water, meaning they are terrifically flavourless.

terrifically    terrifically    terrifically    ✗
terrifically

Year 5

As the moon was settling down, Rose Blanche streaked slowly through and tripped on a muddy stick as she was carrying food for the people who need it.

Unable to erase the fact that people are being treated badly, Rose felt really bad about what the people had been through, mean while her bringing them food and risking her own life for other people.

She took home, cheese, bread and cakes as the frogs were shivering like stars in the winter.

Year 5

Rose looked out the window. ~~Being~~ <sup>being</sup> surprised ② She saw red flags ~~Rehe~~ shouting and the ~~army~~ marching. The music was screaming in her ears. She saw ~~in the street~~ something on the pavement. It was Hitler ~~the~~ with 2 ~~set~~ of guards beside him. Everyone was chanting ~~like~~ love you Hitler. Rose smiled but not for long. This happy and charming ~~day~~ will soon turn into a nightmare.

coordinating conjunction

① Rose looked out of the window

Rose looked out the window and he had her cold.

Year 5

2026
2026 Tuesday 2nd of June

Rose leaped over puddles and fallen trees. Up ahead Rose spotted a barbed wire fence, with Sigas saying "Jews gassing compartment". On the other side of wire, Rose saw empty sunken faces, that looked almost hollow. "Food please Food" they cried they reached there ~~to~~ skinny pale arms through the wire, but the electrical shock made them pull there arms back in. "I'm sorry I don't have anything on me" replied rose. The Ghost like people went back to standing like empty souls. From the shadows a soldier, Roses eyes widened with gear She hid behind a tree and ran back home passing. She could still hear the soldiers harsh voice and the sounds of gun shots.

Year 6

The Errand: Part Two

c9/6/26

As <sup>the</sup> moon starts to appear, you hear howl. A mournful, ~~mezzull~~ howl.

From within the forest, you <sup>hear</sup> the howling and answering the call of the moon. A mournful sound.

But you must not stop. You must continue. Around you the trees start to arch and silvery-white threads start to rap around the trees. You can see glimmering crimson eyes watching you. What Whos are they? You don't know. Slowly, you look around you. There <sup>The</sup> silvery thread no longer looks nice and silvery but bone-white. It doesn't rap itself around the trees gently, but It suggests them.

The eyes are no longer glimmering. They are bloodhirsty. You are in a spider's den. You must run and not look back. Don't watch your step it may cost you a <sup>your life</sup> life. You try to shield yourself only to recoil in fear as your hands meet a velvety hairy form. Do ~~not~~ not stop. You reach the end of the nest. All seems dark but <sup>spark</sup> a of hope is there. All you need to do is find it.

Whose

Whose

o

Suggestion

Suggestion

Suggestion