Year 4

I guess I do care about this thing
What does this care mean and who was that? wer does the care lead to? I went through a tunnel and through the town, across a ~~bridge~~ ^{bridge}
I was searching and it's a pink mouse with large ears started me. And there was a big door behind the mouse

Our big problem: Couscous on its own is boring & flavorless and not particularly nutritious. How can we make a healthy and tasty dish using Couscous as our base.

couscous flavour recipe seasoning savoury texture

In Egypt, Couscous is traditionally a sweet dish served for breakfast or dessert. The preparation involves steaming whole wheat and boiling water and it is topped with sugar, cinnamon, ground coconut and finally dried nuts.

In Tunisia, Couscous is spicy, served commonly with vegetables and meat, including lamb, fish, seafood, beef and some times camel. Tunisia's specialty can also be made with octopus & squid.

Couscous in Morocco is a cultural staple & traditionally served on Fridays following Midday prayers which typically features a broth of beef, lamb, or chicken plus a night which a variety of slow cook meat & veg.
